A.J. Boggs and Company's, Joseph Kunk, selected as a Visual Basic Magazine columnist

East Lansing, Mich. — A.J. Boggs & Company, a Michigan-based software development firm, announces their lead consultant, Joseph Kunk, has been selected by Visual Studio Magazine as a columnist for their VB (Visual Basic) programming language column.

Mr. Kunk's monthly column is featured in both print and web versions. As co-author of the recently released "Professional DevExpress ASP.Net Controls", Kunk is rapidly becoming a popular technology expert.

Mr. Kunk was also recently selected (for the second year in a row) as a recipient of Microsoft's Most Valuable Professional (MVP) award for his work as a leader in the Microsoft developer community. Microsoft provides its MVPs with confidential access to future technology and access to a network of exceptional IT professionals.

Details of Mr. Kunk's accomplishments include:

- President of the Lansing and Flint .NET users groups (GLUGnet Lansing and Flint)
- An organizer of the Lansing's Day of .NET conference in 2008 and 2009
- Technical editor for Paul Kimmel's book "LINQ Unleashed for C#"
- Co-author of the recently released Wrox title "Professional DevExpress ASP.Net Controls"
- INETA national newsletter article "How to Host a Great CodeCamp"
